Dear Friend,

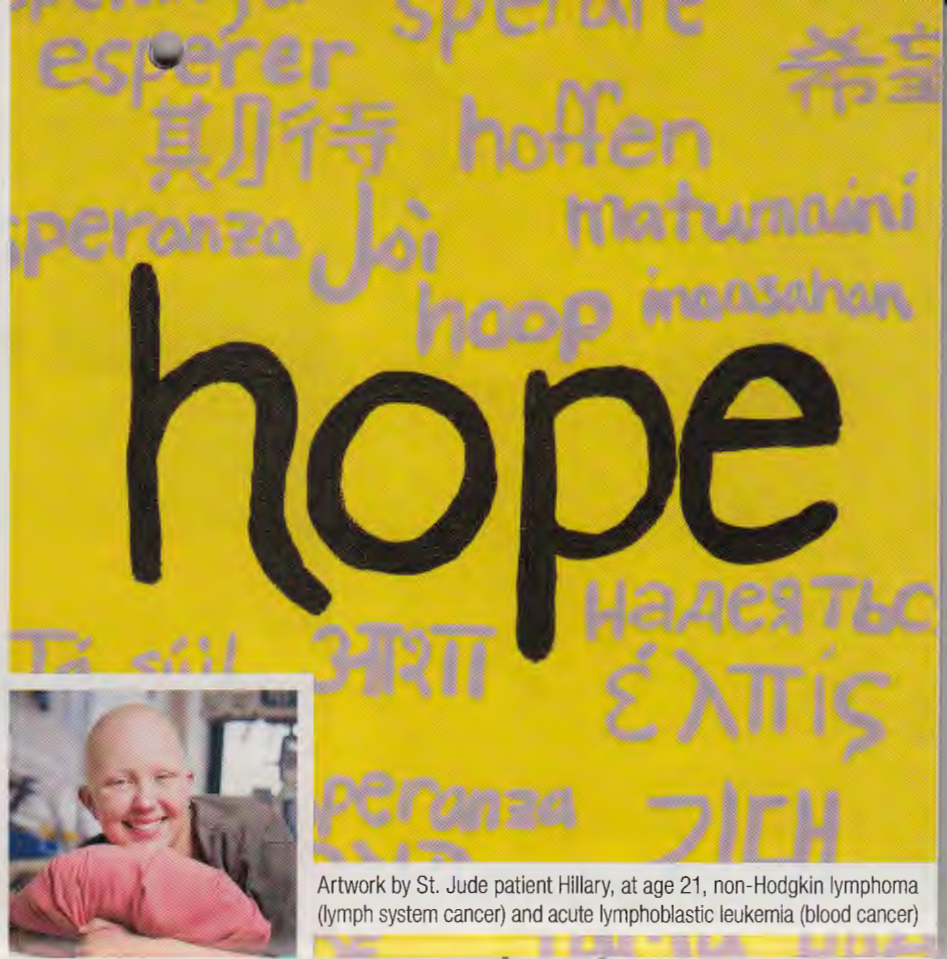

Please accept your new 2016 St. Jude Children's Research Hospital calendar for being one of our most caring supporters. Your generosity touches the lives of so many children fighting cancer and other deadly diseases, like the precious child featured on the cover of your new calendar -- little Carly.

In February 2013, Carly was diagnosed with a cancerous tumor called neuroblastoma -- a heartless killer of children. She came to St. Jude for treatment, and our doctors are currently fighting for her life. Please send any gift you can afford to help us care for innocent children like Carly today. Thank you.

For the children,

Marlo Thomas

Dear Friend,

I hope you like the new 2016 calendar from St. Jude Children's Research Hospital that I sent to you recently.

And I hope you'll also like the enclosed special reminder stickers for you to use with your St. Jude calendar. These will help you remember birthdays, anniversaries, doctors' appointments and other important events in the year ahead.

If you've already sent a caring gift to help children like Carly -- the precious little girl on the cover of your calendar -- then please accept my heartfelt thanks.

But if you haven't sent a gift yet, please mail whatever you can afford today.

You'll recall from my previous letter that little Carly came to St. Jude to fight for her life against a cancerous tumor called neuroblastoma. Thankfully, she has finished treatment and is now home with her family and friends.

But we still need your help as we continue fighting for children like Carly who are battling against cancer and other deadly diseases.

Costs are rising everywhere. Yet St. Jude must never cut back on giving our little patients the lifesaving care they desperately need.

So if things have come up, and you've delayed sending a gift, I understand. But let me hear from you now -- because your commitment to the St. Jude mission is so important.

Support like yours has been instrumental in making St. Jude a home away from home for sick children coming to us from across the country and around the world.

With everything you've meant to our children, I wanted to make sure you received your 2016 St. Jude calendar.

And to further express my appreciation for your love of our children, I'm sending the enclosed special reminder stickers for you to use with your calendar.

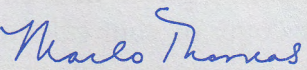

I believe these stickers will serve as helpful reminders as you make plans and set appointments in the coming months.

But most of all, I hope they will remind you of all the good you're doing each and every day through your support for our lifesaving mission.

Because the majority of St. Jude funding comes from individual contributions, St. Jude has the freedom to focus on what matters most -- saving kids regardless of their family's financial situation.

Through the generous support of friends like you, families never receive a bill from St. Jude for treatment, travel, housing or food -- because we believe all a family should worry about is helping their child live.

Please don't set this letter aside without mailing your caring gift for our children right away. God bless your good heart -- today and always.

For the children,

Marlo Thomas

P.S. When I look into Carly's eyes, I know how important our mission is to save innocent lives like hers. And because our children can't ask you for help, I am. Please help us in our fight against childhood cancer and other deadly diseases with any gift you can send today.

Your special calendar stickers
