As the weather grows deadlier and more destructive, Americans have learned not to wait on Washington to take action. Paris to Pittsburgh, a new film from Bloomberg Philanthropies, RadicalMedia, and National Geographic, highlights some incredible stories about what people all over the country are doing to demand and develop real climate change solutions in their hometowns. You can take action yourself by hosting a screening of this film for your community, friends, family, or work colleagues. Sign up here to host a screening.
